

From the heart of Tennessee's best kept secret comes a welcome into communities so friendly that you'll pinch yourself to make sure you're not dreaming and with good reason. Since Rogersville, Tennessee's second oldest town, was settled in 1775, visitors have found that these hills are home to a people that play hard, work hard, and value family and one another. With a deep sense of faith guiding them, the people of our towns will give you a welcome you'll never forget.
